

Lelit P6OT Dual Boiler

Lelit espresso machines have been sold under many different brand names in Australia and offer impressive performance within a small footprint. The combi variants add the convenience of an inbuilt conical burr grinder offering a functional, portable package.

Lelit machines are finished in stainless steel and contain a brass boiler similar in specification to the Rancilio Silvia. They are capable of producing excellent espresso and beautiful microfoam.

The PL6OT is new to the Lelit range and offers the convenience of dual boilers for simultaneous espresso and steam production. All Lelit espresso machines are supplied with a ball-jointed single hole steam wand and the P6OT also includes a 3-hole steam tip for rapid milk texture performance.
