

Lelit PLO41

Lelit espresso machines have been sold under many different brand names in Australia and offer impressive performance within a small footprint.

Lelit machines are finished in stainless steel and contain a brass boiler similar in specification to the Rancilio Silvia. They are capable of producing excellent espresso and beautiful microfoam.

The PLO41Q is the entry level model shown here with rocker switch controls. The Lelit PLO41TEMD adds a Gicar PID to the PLO42Q for improved temperature control. All variants are now supplied with a ball-jointed single hole steam wand.
